THE ELK OF 1953

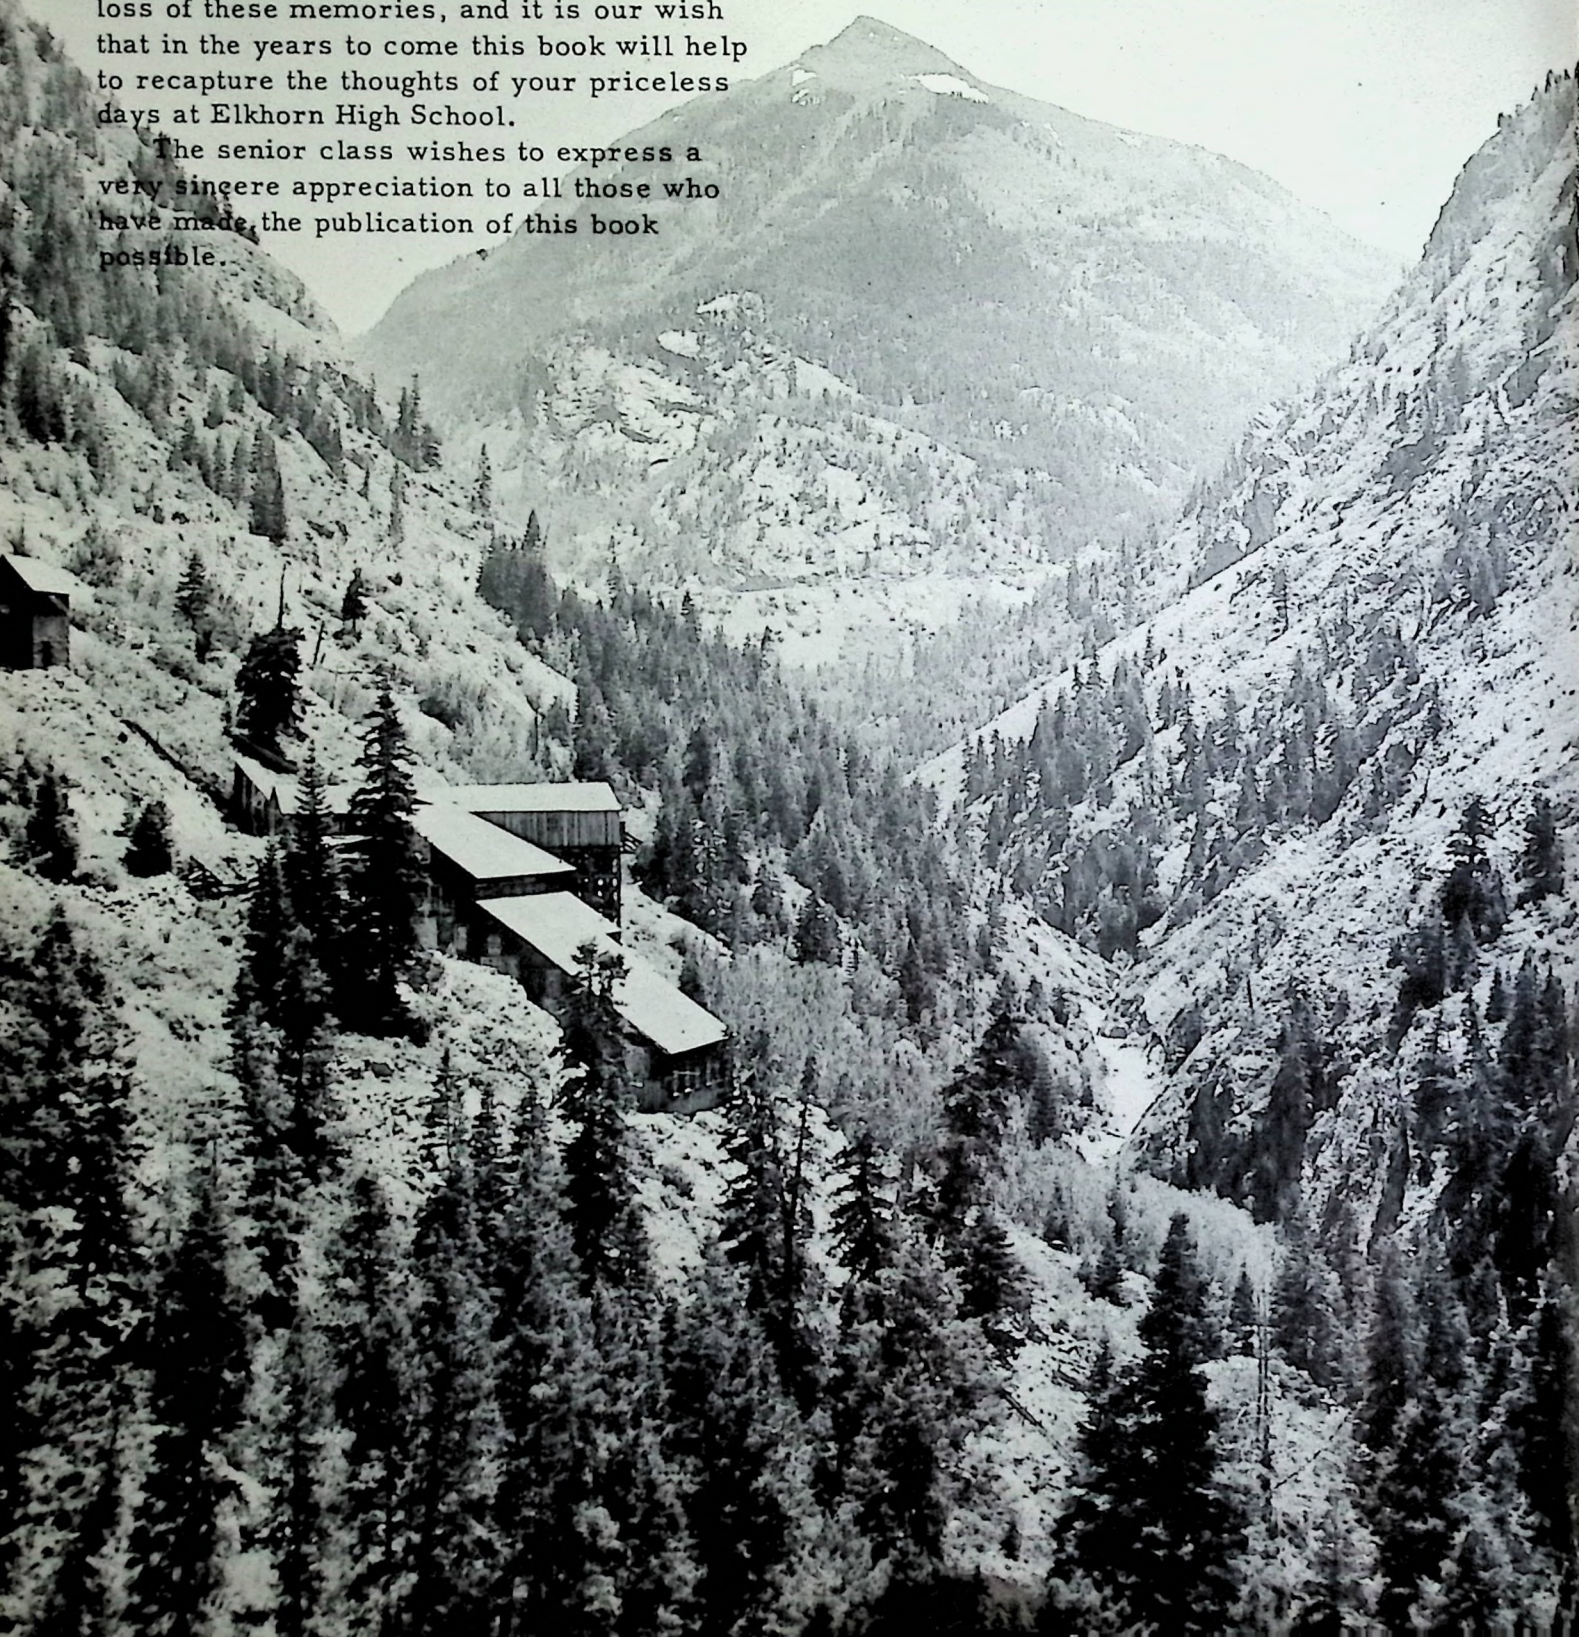

ELKHORN HIGH SCHOOL
FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY

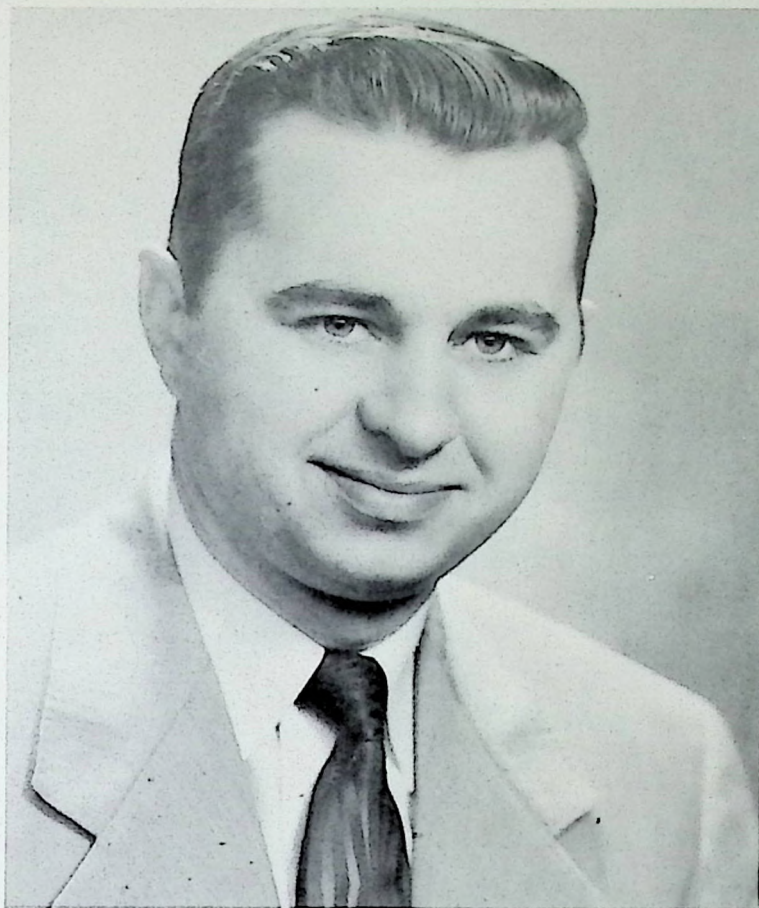

FOREWORD

Through the years the memories of our participation in activities and of our association with friends float into the infinite space of time and age. This annual has been published in order to prevent the permanent loss of these memories, and it is our wish that in the years to come this book will help to recapture the thoughts of your priceless days at Elkhorn High School.

The senior class wishes to express a very sincere appreciation to all those who have made the publication of this book possible.

DEDICATION

In expressing our sincere appreciation to Mr. Wendell Taylor, whose patience and guidance made our high school days more pleasant, we dedicate this Yearbook of 1953.

CLASS HISTORY

The history of the class of 1953 is so dramatic and colorful it resembles a play--one of those modern plays that so skillfully disregard all the rules of the drama. With your kind permission I will review the play called "The Class of 1953" in an absolutely unbiased manner.

This is a play with four acts, with three all too brief intermissions. All the scenes take place in the high school building, in corridors, classrooms, auditorium, gymnasium, and assembly. The settings are plain, showing signs of much use.

Act I has fifty-seven "characters". They arrive in the halls of learning, and their timidity and curious mistakes furnish some bright comedy moments. There is rapidly rising action and the villain gradually puts in an appearance. He is called Study and is of alarming size and proportions. It is evident that he will interfere sadly with the enjoyment and leisure of the actors, now known as Freshmen.

These Freshmen found, however, that they had much talent in music, speech, and athletics.

At the close of the act, tragedy seems imminent, as there is a desperate state of affairs--a mental crisis created by another villain, Examinations. But the Freshmen, by one last spurt of their tired brains, win.

After an intermission of twelve weeks the play is resumed.

Act II shows the same people in the same place, but they are now known as Sophomores, owing to an advance in rank. Seven actors did not survive Act I, leaving only fifty to carry on. In this act incipient love affairs are noticed, and the costumes are much more elaborate, as is also the make-up used.

Again many of the students excel in the extra-curricula activities, and at the end of the act the villain, Examinations, is again conquered.

Another twelve-week intermission and we are ready to begin Act III. Again the same people in the same place--which may make the play sound monotonous to you, but I assure you it is not. The actors are now called Juniors.

The Juniors take special pride in their football, basketball, and track stars, noted musicians and vocalists, and those who won much praise in speech.

In the social spotlight is the Junior Play and the Football Homecoming Dance.

Another twelve-week intermission, then Act IV arrives at last and is warmly received. The actors, now numbering only forty, are so matured, so at ease, so changed for the better that they are difficult to recognize.

The action is more rapid and more complicated in this act. The actors who showed promise of being stars in the preceding acts have fulfilled that promise and shine brightly. There are stars in football, basketball, track, band, music, and speech.

In the social spotlight of this act are the Halloween Carnival, Senior Play, and the annual trip to Washington, D.C.

As the act nears its close, white and worried faces are noticed, for this is the final struggle. Victory now means freedom from the dreaded Study and Examinations. The attack of the Seniors is brave and well organized. The result is apparent--the Seniors emerge victorious. They have finished Study, and about one third of the class becomes honor students.

The play ends in a burst of joy, with flowers, music, and congratulations--in short, graduation exercises; and we have the well-known and ever popular happy ending.

I am sure that you will agree that this is a very dramatic history, and that neither this great play, nor the cast, is likely to be forgotten by the faculty of Elkhorn High School for many years to come. It will always be referred to as "That Wonderful class of 1953".

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Did you know that the shape of your noses,
Your minds and futures, it discloses.
Just to prove that my powers are ample,
I shall give you a wonderful sample.
I'll just glance at your faces all glowing,
And then your futures, I'll be knowing.

Off to Congress Buzzy Nave will be sent,
His admirers will make him the next President.

Gordon Shirley will argue morning, noon
and night,
And win his case, if he be wrong or right.

Young David Hilton has great ambition,
He'll be a wily politician.

Harry Jackson, a plumber, will work overtime,
With charges huge and nerves sublime.

Donnie Harrod's future plain I see,
A very wealthy man he'll likely be.

Ere many years Bobby Harrod will be,
A solemn Doctor of Philosophy.

George Smith, will be of course,
A lawyer, criminal and divorce.

Joe Sparks, who is always late,
Won't be on time for his funeral date.

Tommy Underwood will be a world-famed aviator,
As noted as Lindbergh, perhaps ever greater.

Donnie Karsner, our football star,
Will design America's push-button car.

Wayne Shearer--the reckless joker!-- Will probably be a lucky Wall Street broker.

Eugene Derringer will be a disc-jockey someday,
And sob all his troubles in ether away.

John Thompson who excels in all his school courses,
Will become a millionaire from his race horses.

Alvin New who liked to cut-up in typing,
Will be an "ole bach" because of his gripping.

W. A. Burke--the senior muscle man,
Will be the director of a New York band.

Mary Lou Carter, our portrait painter, Will make poor Rembrandt's glory even fainter.

Mary Nave who is always taking chances,
Will be the owner of all Texas' ranches.

Carolyn Newnam will probably be all her life,
A housekeeper deluxe and happy wife.

Nancy Hearn dancing upon the stage,
Will soon become the nation's rage.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Her fertile brain and ready wit,
Proclaims the job Mary Vaughn will fit.

Ruth Guthrie, that careless brunette,
Will no further in Driver's Training get.

Nancy West, the cheerleader with the big "mouth",
Will model clothing "way down South".

Jane Snow, that girl with the innocent smile,
Will live in Winchester for quite a while.

Doris Bryan who tips the scales at ninety-two,
Will try awful hard to make size 20 do.

Barbara Stewart with her flighty airs,
Will blame poor Sonny for all her gray hairs.

Margie Mitchell, the timid little creature,
Will settle down and marry a preacher.

Zella Hudson will run with glee,
A great employment agency.

Audrey Bowman who wears a diamond with grace,
Will be an old maid, alone by her fireplace.

Evelyn Baxter, the gal who loves to shirk,
Will probably excel Miss McCoy in overwork.

Beautician by trade and Simon by name, Barbara will acquire for herself great fame.

Martha Lewis hopes that she will never,
Have to remain by that name forever.

Norma Miles who is an all-right gal,
Will be in the movies as "Wrestling Sal".

Lillian Johnson who has a very small voice,
A doctor or lawyer will be her choice.

Bessie Bramblett will probably marry
Bill Sayle,
And live in a little house over in the dale.

Carrie Schuler who over the boys does drool,
Will be the matron of an orphan's school.

Lillian Luscher will bare the name of Wood,
And will have a time making her kids be good.

Agnes Duvall the girl with the sparkle in her eyes,
Over her handsome husband will have many many cries.

Thelma Murphy the girl with the wedding ring,
Will be teaching children how to sing.

Patsy T. Rogers our mother-to-be,
Will probably raise triplets-John, Lou,
and Lee.

Betty Henderson the writer of this will probably be,
"You don't know, do you?" So just wait and see.
